

Cable tray engineering material fabrication

Overview

Modern cable tray manufacturing employs sophisticated forming technologies that transform prepared steel materials into functional tray components. The selection of material and finish is a function of the environment in which it is used in a wide range of environments, and easily formable (Appendices II and III). The foundation of quality cable tray production begins. Ventilated cable tray systems are commonly fabricated from a corrosion-resistant metal or from a metal with a corrosion-resistant finish. When pure, aluminum is soft and ductile. However, most commercial uses require. The purpose of this article is to define the sequence and methodology for the installation of electrical cable trays, cable trunking, cable raceways and boxes, junction and pull boxes.
